Leila Navabi

Robin Morgan

[Here to Judge Theme Song]

Priya: Welcome to Here to Judge where we scour the internet to dissect dilemmas and decide who's to blame. Here to Judge today is me, Priya Hall.

Robin: Me, Robin Morgan.

Leila: And me, Leila Navabi.

'Am I the asshole for wanting my phone during a family trip that's been declared phone free. My wife and her parents have planned a trip for two days. We'll be going somewhere where there's lots and lots of fossils and museums and things to do, essentially take pictures of in my opinion.' That's depressing isn't it? [laughs].

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: 'They joked about making it like a trip from her childhood days before Smartphones were a thing. Then they got serious. They have decided that there will be no phones, no clocks, no technology of any kind.' [Laughs] No clocks.

Robin: No sundials. Nothing.

Priya: When was their childhood?

Leila: Yeah exactly.

Robin: [Laughs]

Leila: 'I decided that I won't follow that for a multitude of reasons. Namely that I want to have pictures of this place I've never been to before. Second major reason is that I'm an anxious person and at night I sleep with my headphones in with background noise playing to keep myself from over thinking and getting anxious over nothing, I've done this for years.' [Laughs] I laugh but this is also my personal situation [laughs].

Priya: [Laughs]

Leila: 'After declaring that I won't comply I've been given the ultimatum, I give up my phone and come or I don't go at all. They've also decided that if I choose not to go it will make me an asshole and her boomer parents will think that I'm horrible and that I'm too reliant on tech. I also want to clarify that I'm not glued to my phone all the time. They disagree. Am I the asshole in this situation? What do I do?'

Priya: I do think it's a bit of an asshole thing to say we're going to see all of these things to go and essentially take photos of them. That's not the reason you do things is it?

Leila: That's so, again...

Priya: That's bleak.

Leila: ...Bo Burnham special.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: That one where he says 'The real world only exists for us to collect like items to put on our real online world'.

Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah. [Chuckles]

Priya: [Chuckles]

Leila: Which I suppose feels increasingly true when we spend all the time inside.

Priya: Yeah. That being said I wouldn't go on a trip if someone explicitly told me I couldn't take my phone. I'd be like, oh you're going to murder me then OK.

Robin: Yeah [laughs]

Priya: You're for sure going to murder me [laughs].

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: Yeah if they want to give this person an ultimatum that's fine, but this person should just be like, yeah cool I'm not coming, have a lovely time.

Priya: Yeah.

Robin: Yeah.

Leila: Bye. Unless they've paid for it in which case they can do what they like. Do you know what I mean like it's?

Robin: How long is the trip?

Leila: Two days.

Priya: You should be able to go two days without your phone.

Robin: Yeah.

Leila: I couldn't do it.

Priya: Do you think?

Robin: The other day I took my kids to play football in the park for an hour and I left my phone at home and Jane came back from work and I was like 'I left my phone at home, it felt really good'. She was like 'It was an hour'. I was like 'Yeah it felt really good'.

Priya: [Laughs]

Leila: Did it? Did it feel good though?

Robin: Um no I constantly thought whether I'd get calls.

Priya: Yeah sure.

Leila: Yeah I always feel like that as well. Because suddenly when you're not on your phone it feels like everything is happening.

Robin: Yeah.

Priya: Do you think that's maybe because of our industry though? Where it's like...

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Robin: Yeah maybe.

Priya: ...you get offers and it's like very quickly you have say. Yeah.

Leila: Yeah totally. I'm like, what if I get asked to be on the Royal Variety Show? [laughs] I don't know.

Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.

Leila: I don't know what gigs exist anymore clearly.

Priya: That was what you were expecting to come through that's fair enough.

Leila: Yeah.

Priya: I was like maybe someone will ask me to gig in a pub on like half an hour's notice [laughs].

Leila: Or maybe someone will ask you to go and commentate on football.

Robin: For the Queen.

Leila: Yeah it's bad isn't it? I'm definitely addicted to my phone, a billion % addicted.

Robin: Mm.

Leila: I would get the shakes if I didn't have it for like a week.

Priya: Oh for a week yeah.

Robin: Do you all have iPhones?

Leila: Yeah.

Priya: No I've got a Samsung.

Robin: Does the Samsung have a screen time function where it tells you how much you do?

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Priya: It does and I used to pay attention to it but since lockdown number one I've been ignoring it because I don't need to know that and I don't need to be judged.

Robin: Sure.

Priya: That's like one thing I miss about having to go into the office is having time where I can't be on my phone.

Robin: Sure.

Priya: Because it takes all of the like guilt out of it if you miss something.

Robin: Sure, sure, sure, sure, sure.

Priya: But now I'm fully addicted.

Leila: I do a lot of work on my phone.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: I've been known to write on my phone.

Robin: It feels like you're prefacing this question I'm about to ask why I ask how much you're on your phone?

Priya: [Laughs]

Leila: How much? Is that what you're going to ask?

Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Priya: Oh do you want us to check now?

Leila: Oh we do that thing. Oh...

Robin: Yeah.

Priya: No.

Leila: You're going to hate this. You're going to hate it, it's going to be disgusting.

Priya: Eww.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

- Robin: I don't know what the comparison is though. What are we doing daily average? Is that what we're doing?
- Priya: I don't even know where to find it now.
- Leila: Do I need to type in screen time? Yeah here we are. Oh it's horrible actually. Oh and it tells you, oh my god I'm going to be sick!
- Priya: Are we doing it by week?
- Robin: OK.
- Leila: Oh my god. Per day, my last week average per day is disgusting.
- Robin: I feel quite smug about mine. But I'm very aware that I was on my laptop and iPad a lot more.
- Leila: Oh, mine's going to be the worst.
- Priya: [Laughs] I've spend five hours and 31 minutes on my phone today. Is that really, really bad? I watch things on my phone though.
- Robin: My last week's average is four hours 10 minutes.
- Priya: OK.
- Leila: Oh fuck.
- Priya: What's yours Leila? [Chuckles]
- Leila: Last week's average for me [laughs] was ten hours 31 minutes [laughs].
- Priya: Leila! What are you doing on it?
- Robin: [Claps]
- Leila: I use it for everything. I write on it. I literally will write and do my work on it.
- Priya: Yeah.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: I know that's really bad for my eyes. Look, if this of any consolation [laughs] weekly my total screen time last week was 74 hours which is foul. You're all really concerned for my wellbeing.

Priya: I really am.

Robin: Wait. What total screen time, 74?

Leila: Yeah, last week.

Robin: OK.

Leila: But that is also broken down into social, entertainment, productivity, and finance right?

Robin: Sure.

Leila: And so social, I've got 15 hours in a week, which I don't think is that bad.

Robin: Sure.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: Maybe it is I don't know. Right and then productivity and finance which I don't know what finance means, but actually I do my books on my phone as well. I do my accounts like I have an app for that.

Priya: You do?

Leila: Yeah because guess who's sorting their taxes out now so they don't have to do it later on? It's me. I'm brilliant. So productivity and finance, I spent 20 hours last week doing, which is more than social which is important. And then I spent 14 hours on entertainment, whatever that means? I'm assuming that is watching telly.

Robin: Yeah.

Leila: Or playing Snake, fuck knows?

Robin: Sure [laughs].

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: That's really bad though, that's really bad.

Priya: So my weekly daily average is three hours and 48 minutes.

Leila: Oh fuck.

Priya: That's so much time Leila [laughs].

Leila: Yeah I know, I know.

Priya: I can't imagine doing work on my phone. My eyes would drop out of my head.

Robin: I tried to write on my phone earlier because my wife was using my laptop and I found it horrible. Horrible to write jokes whilst...

Priya: Yeah.

Robin: ...breaking my thumbs.

Priya: My stumpy thumbs can't do that.

Leila: I have like a massive aversion to my laptop.

Robin: [Laughs] I don't know what was funny.

Priya: Is it because you do work on your laptop so your brain is like I'll procrastinate...

Leila: Yeah but I don't do work on my laptop, like I always choose to work on my phone if I can, I probably need to have a digital detox.

Robin: So would you go on this two day detox do you think you could do it?

Leila: [Sighs] I think I could, it depends who it was with.

Robin: It's a lot. I don't think I could.

Priya: I'm not sure I could rid of all tech. Because two days with no tech.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Robin: And fucking clocks!

Priya: Yeah that's absolute madness how are you going to get anything done?

Leila: Yeah clocks are stupid.

Robin: It's madness.

Leila: That's stupid, that would give me stress. Do you know what if I was with a really good group of pals I think I could do it. But like if I was just with all due respect to my family, I think I'd be like, I'm bored of your company. Do you know?

Robin: Yeah.

Leila: If you have like a group of friends you haven't caught up with in ages.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: This is what I'd love to do. I haven't seen so many of my friends, like everyone, in like a year now. So if I could just have like you know if it was two days in like an Airbnb with people I haven't seen in ages, definitely, easy. I really think I could do that then.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: Uh but otherwise it's like no, like what do you do?

Robin: Yeah.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: Really?

Robin: Unless you then had to buy things like alarms. But no you can't use clocks, like how do you fucking cook? I don't know how long the food has been in there for, it's burnt, it's burnt therefore...

Here to Judge- Episode 33

- Priya: Are you even allowed to use an oven, does that count as tech?
- Robin: Yeah that's a very good point.
- Leila: Yeah and that's stupid.
- Priya: I think there's a really petty part of me that maybe would like to go on a detox on tech. But if someone told me I had to I'd be like go fuck yourself [laughs].
- Leila: Yeah, yeah it would have to be choice.
- Robin: Sure, sure, sure, sure.
- Priya: I'm going to stay home and detox.
- Robin: I would I think only do it if I was on something like Channel 4's The Island.
- Priya: Yeah on the beach [laughs].
- Robin: Yeah only if I was getting paid. But I'd also quite like to do one of those adventure shows.
- Leila: Yeah. Oh I'd do it to get paid, you know of course you would.
- Priya: Yeah [laughs].
- Robin: Do you remember those shows it's like, we send a modern family to live back in...
- Priya: Yeah.
- Robin: I wouldn't do one of those but I do like Desert Island.
- Leila: What about, we send modern three podcasters back time.
- Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah.
- Leila: And they have to just not be on their phones. You two would be fine.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

- Robin: So what do we think? Do we think detox man? I don't think he's the asshole.
- Priya: No.
- Leila: I don't think they're an asshole. I cannot say they're an asshole because hello, I have a deeply unhealthy relationship with my phone.
- Robin: Sure.
- Leila: I do sleep with just sounds on in my ears.
- Robin: Sure. I just think this family, they, and I say this often, they lost me at clocks.
- Priya: Yeah.
- Robin: That was the point that I thought OK...
- Priya: I just love clocks!
- Leila: Yeah.
- Robin: Time isn't, yeah famously he's a big clock guy, he's a big clock guy.
- Priya: [Laughs]
- Leila: You're one of the only people I know who has a clock up in their house.
- Robin: I've got many clocks.
- Leila: Do you have clocks up in your house Priya?
- Priya: Mm? No.
- Leila: Yeah, no me neither, I've thought about it, every time I see a nice clock in a TK Maxx for example...
- Robin: Mm-hmm.
- Leila: ...I'm like maybe I should get a clock. And then I don't.
- Robin: I have at least three clocks in my house.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Priya: I find them hard to manage. Their batteries run out and then all of the sudden you've got a broken clock that you're never going to fix.

Leila: Yeah and then instantly you're like, well it says it's seven past four, that means if I minus 42 minutes then maybe it's right.

Priya: [Laughs] Exactly.

Robin: The only issue is daylight savings time where you have to run around because everything automatically changes whereas clocks don't because they're not technology which is why this family should allow fucking clocks.

Priya: [Laughs]

[Here to Judge- Interim Music]

Robin: So we are off to Mumsnet. 'Am I being unreasonable to not wee in the hotel kettle?' This is by Great Aunt Fanny.

Leila: Ohhh [laughs].

Robin: And they have posted a summary of events. So they're in a hotel room with a newish partner. They go to make a cup of tea and they ask if the partner wants one. His eyes widen and he yelps 'No! Don't do that, people wee in them'.

Leila: What?

Robin: 'I have never heard this and say something along the lines of 'What? Why would anyone wee in the kettle there's an en suite?' He says 'Everyone knows you should never use the kettle in your hotel room because people wee in them and worse'. OP tells him 'I'm going to take my chances and make a cup of tea although I boil it once out first to be on the safe side. He looks repulsed and says 'I can't believe you're doing that, that's disgusting, I didn't think you were like that' (Basically how I would expect him to react if I actually did a wee or worse in the hotel kettle myself). They go out later for an after dinner walk and he points at a dog poo and says 'Look, there's your dessert.' They're getting ready for bed and he picks up the kettle and asks if I want a cup of wee to take to bed'.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: He's horrible!

Robin: He's so fucking, he's such a piece of shit.

Priya: Yeah.

Robin: 'So the question is, is weeing in the hotel kettle a thing? (In which case am I being unreasonable for making a cup of tea in what is essentially a toilet?) Or is my partner being weirdly OTT about this? Girls group chat theories have so far ranged from he's an extreme germaphobe, red flag, to he's testing my reaction because he's into poo and wee related activities, also a red flag, brown flag. To he wees in hotel kettles himself, also a red flag. The only non red flag is that he's right and people are weeing into hotel kettles left, right and centre which would be a green flag for him'. She just needs to stop talking about flags.

Leila: Yeah.

Robin: 'But a red flag for the rest of society. I'm not really sure what the outcome is here, help me out.' He sounds like a fucking piece of shit.

Leila: Right.

Priya: Yeah I need him to be a piece of shit and be in the wrong here because I can't accept the fact that anyone would piss in a hotel kettle.

Leila: No we've already discussed the way we like once we enter a hotel, especially if it's not paid for by ourselves. I will have 16 cups of tea if there are 16 teabags that I can use, do you know what I mean?

Robin: Yeah.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Priya: So there's plenty of pee for the kettle, sure.

Leila: Oh but I don't want that.

Robin: [Laughs]

Leila: I don't want this to be true. But now part of me is worrying.

Priya: No it can't be.

Leila: Why would you pee in a kettle in a hotel?

Robin: So this isn't the first time I've heard of this and the only other time I've heard of something like this is in Gary Delaney's joke which is 'You know what really boils my piss? Hotel room kettles'. Which is a very good joke but until then I heard that and went 'Oh do people do that?' And it stayed with me every single time that I go into a hotel since that as I suppose this story will for you guys.

Leila: Oh no.

Priya: Noooo.

Leila: This has genuinely ruined hotel cups of tea for me which is one of my favourite things.

Robin: But you'd imagine that they'd clean the kettle? Especially in a Covid world as well, you'd imagine they'd have to do something.

Priya: Yeah.

Robin: They wouldn't just like leave a kettle uncleaned, would they? / probably?

Priya: If someone pissed in a kettle though, even if it had been cleaned out, I wouldn't want to use that kettle. People do, do gross things though. I know of someone who had to have their whole oven changed because they had a house party, some guy shat in a cup and put it in the oven.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: Aww.

Priya: They didn't realise and the next time they used their oven.

Leila: Oh no! No, no, no, no, no, no, no.

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: No, no, no.

Priya: So people do, do gross things for no reason.

Robin: Yeah. I was at a house party and someone I think put what did they do? They put something in this dude's freezer, it was either poo. I don't want to say it was cum but it might have been cum.

Leila: Ohhhh myyyyyy god.

Priya: Oh no.

Robin: But this dude was a piece of shit, like a proper piece of shit. Sorry a piece of cum, it was a piece of cum, that's what I'm talking about.

Priya: It shouldn't come out in pieces.

Leila: Ugh! This is so repugnant.

Robin: It's bleak isn't it?

Leila: I think this guy, the way he's going 'That's your dessert' like she's enjoying the idea that there might be piss in the kettle.

Robin: Oh!

Leila: That's what's the asshole here is like the idea.

Robin: That is the red flag.

Leila: Yeah that and the way he's like.

Priya: Yeah.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: You know you'd be like if I really thought people were peeing in kettles which I don't know that I do, I don't know. I wouldn't not say it.

Robin: It would be lovely to know a percentage wouldn't it? I think it's the minority.

Leila: I also agree.

Priya: Yeah. I have to believe that it's the minority. I can't...

Leila: Yeah, no.

Priya: I like literally can't live my life thinking that majority of people piss in kettles.

Leila: No that's very true.

Robin: That's the pull out, that's the pull out...

Leila: Kettles in hotels are always empty of water and dry which suggests to me that they do clean them.

Robin: I think that this lady is not being unreasonable. I feel like her partner is an awful piece of shit and if she knows so much about red flags, she should be seeing a lot of them in this guy right now.

Leila: I absolutely agree. I like to see the best in people. I think that's the healthiest way to be and so we should just all blindly believe that no one pees in kettles and we'll all live happier lives, the end.

Priya: If I found out anyone who listens to this podcast has been peeing in kettles, I'm going to burn this world to the ground.

[Here to Judge- Interim Music]

Priya: 'Am I the asshole for refusing to buy more mustard? We have a cute but small kitchen in our house. The owners before us wanted open shelving so they tore down all the upper cabinets and put in a single shelf that goes along the wall. It looks ok but there isn't a lot of storage. I do a lot of cooking and baking, and I'm really good at it. I do all the cooking in our house including making homemade breakfasts and desserts. My husband loves it, he says he married me for my crepes and my berry baked oatmeal. He will grill occasionally when it's warm out maybe once every couple of weeks. I also do all the meal planning and grocery shopping. We got Buffalo wings the other day and my son freaked out because they were too spicy. My husband grabbed some ranch dressing for him from the fridge and noticed it was expired. The next time I got groceries he told me to buy more ranch dressing. I said 'No obviously we're not using it a lot because it expired before we could finish it'. He says we need it for the next time we get wings. We get wings maybe once every few years.

I said 'Why not just get ranch dressing from the restaurant?' He said 'We get new milk when it expires, why not ranch dressing?' I said 'If we replaced every food item we used, we'd basically be a grocery store.' This weekend it happened again when I tossed expired mustard, a completely unopened, unused container of mustard. He's mad I won't buy more mustard. He says I replace Nutella when I use all that up but won't replace mustard. I go through a jar of Nutella every couple weeks, that stuff is amazing. I know it's such a little thing but I just don't have space to store all this stuff, I pay for 100% of the groceries for us and our two kids, and I don't like wasting food. He says I'm being petty. Am I the asshole?'

Robin: No but they've got a bad relationship.

Leila: Yeah break up! Why is that always like what we have to say?

Priya: Yeah. Why is she paying for all of their food?

Here to Judge- Episode 33

- Robin: Yeah why does she pay for all of the food? Why does she make all of the food? Like he grills every now and then but also it feels like she could meet him a little bit of the way of going, does it matter if like you've got like a couple of extra condiments knocking around in the back somewhere?
- Leila: Yeah.
- Robin: Like it feels like, oh I'm charge of the cooking therefore I make all the decisions. But equally she shouldn't be fucking paying for everything and cooking all of the thing.
- Priya: Yeah. Like why can't he just buy it himself and keep it in the kitchen? Is that allowed? It should be.
- Leila: Yeah.
- Robin: Yeah also one shelf across the entire kitchen sounds mad.
- Priya: Such a weird design for a kitchen.
- Leila: Yeah what the fuck is going on? Yeah I don't, maybe [sighs].
- Priya: At what level? At like waist height?
- Robin: But I imagine it like sort of bookshelves. You know just like going around kind of like where you'd reach up.
- Priya: But just with one shelf?
- Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah. Yeah one long shelf all around.
- Priya: Bizarre.
- Leila: I do just feel like drawers are your friend, do you know what I mean?
- Robin: Yeah.
- Leila: Like use them to your advantage.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Robin: This feels like a very American, very Midwest I do all the cooking, he grills when it's sunny which is every week, it's like oh god.

Leila: Yeah.

Robin: You Texan prick.

Leila: [Laughs]

Priya: Ranch dressing is such a strange concept.

Leila: Yes it is.

Robin: I'm not sure if I've ever had it.

Priya: I feel like I have.

Leila: You will have had it.

Priya: It tastes like cold.

Leila: I'll tell you what it is, it's like you know the Domino's dip that you get?

Priya: Yeah.

Leila: It's like a mayo-y like garlic-y thing.

Robin: Oh yeah, is it like the Pizza Express salad sauce type thing?

Priya: Yeah, yeah.

Leila: Yes, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.

Robin: Sure. Because I've never had Salad Cream. I've never had it.

Priya: It's gross.

Robin: I don't think I ever will.

Leila: I absolutely have had Salad Cream but that is a product of my grandmother who has salad cream, 'Leila do you want salad cream on your Findus? On your Findus pancake?'

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Robin: [Laughs]

Priya: And like the first cold meal of the year when it's sunny and they give you like cold meat and cold potatoes, you get salad cream with that.

Robin: Sure.

Leila: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Robin: Sure, sure, sure.

Priya: The bleakest meal of them all.

Robin: Yeah [laughs] welcome to summer Priya.

Priya: Do you want a full plate of radishes? That's what was on offer.

Robin: [Laughs]

Priya: No.

Robin: Love a radish mate, love a radish. Love a radish.

Priya: Not when you're like five. A radish is pure pain when you're five.

Robin: My son enjoys radishes but he is going to kill us all.

Priya: Your son is so fancy.

Robin: He's so fancy. He's out in his smoking jacket.

Priya: He likes olives right?

Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Priya: [Laughs]

Robin: He's there rolling a spliff, it's great.

Priya: In his smoking jacket [laughs] yes please.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

- Leila: That is so good. Imagine? I was really disappointed by radishes when I was little because they're pink and so you would think that they're like.
- Robin: They look delicious don't they? And their texture. Imagine if they were sweet? Because imagine that crunch? I guess they're like little disappointing apples aren't they?
- Leila: Yeah.
- Priya: I think they should taste like watermelon.
- Robin: Yes! Surely somebody has done like a sort of a GM thing. You know you can get square watermelons and stuff and how they can sort of manufacture that. Maybe this is where we go with the podcast direction wise. Merch.
- Leila: [Laughs]
- Priya: [Laughs] We genetically engineer radishes that taste like watermelon.
- Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.
- Priya: As merch sure.
- Robin: Yeah, yeah for the live shows. We'll throw them out, you know.
- Priya: Two incredibly perishable foods.
- Robin: Yeah, yeah, yeah for sure. But you know we'll do one live show and then we'll have in the intervals, get them or we'll throw them at you in the second half.
- Leila: [Laughs]
- Priya: Like we'll have gone off by the second half so we do not want that.
- Robin: Oh yeah they'll be awful and also if we don't then we'll throw butt rags at you. So...it's up to you! It's up to you. I don't think she's the asshole.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Priya: No.

Robin: Well I think she is a little bit, he's more so. But I just don't think that they're meant to be together.

Leila: No.

Priya: They're both shit.

Robin: It's that very sort of het relationship where it's like do you hate each other? It's like 'Oh her indoors' and it's like 'Oh he does this' and they sort of shag on Valentine's Day and he gets a blowjob on his birthday, it's that kind of shit relationship, you know?

Leila: When you shag on Valentine's Day.

Priya: Yeah it's like the only thing keeping them together is their incredibly rigid roles that they've decided to play.

Robin: Yeah exactly.

Priya: And hers is control of our one shelf.

Robin: Yeah and he's got an apron that says 'Grill Master' on it.

Leila: [Laughs] Yeah.

Robin: Bleak.

Priya: Yeah that's the situation for sure. It's just a bit bleak innit?

Robin: Yeah.

Leila: Yeah a little bit.

Robin: I think it's the one shelf thing.

Priya: Yeah that is.

Robin: That's the saddest thing about the entire thing. Like who would be like, the people who had this place didn't like shelves, didn't like cupboards.

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Priya: And now they've just stuck with it.

Robin: Yeah. Yeah exactly.

Leila: That's the thing about renting isn't it? Maybe it's rented, are they renting?

Robin: Oh are they renting it?

Priya: Oh maybe.

Leila: I mean I just assumed they were renting because I just assume that everyone is renting.

Priya: Wait they might say.

Robin: I just think check under the floorboards because these people...

Priya: 'The owners before us'.

Robin: Yeah they bought it, fuckin'...

Leila: Oh my god.

Robin: ...rip that shit out mate.

Leila: Just change it then!

Robin: I'm not a DIY person but I would, if my kitchen just had one long shelf, I would rip that off and I would know how to put cabinets up.

Leila: Yeah you would wouldn't you? You just would.

Priya: I'd burn the place to the ground and walk away.

Robin: [Laughs] You mean grill it?

Priya: Because you're getting that energy out of the home.

Robin: You'd grill the place to the ground [laughs].

Leila: Do you know what I mean? Yeah.

Robin: Should we just do one for the edit?

Here to Judge- Episode 33

Leila: Yes let's say it after three. Ass...

Robin: Assholes.

Priya: Assholessssss.

Leila: ...holesssss.

Priya: Including the child.

Robin: And especially the grill master.
